As boy and man, he was known and loved by all Sweet Springs people, and the courage and determination he showed, notwithstanding his frail body, was the admiration of all. His father and mother were with him for weeks preceding his death, and brought the body to the family home in this city Thursday, where the funeral services were held Friday morning at 10:30. These were in charge of Rev. J. E. Crockett, of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. J. C. Shackelford, of the Methodist church, after which the body was laid to rest in Fairview cemetery. Relatives in attendance from out of town were: Messrs. John Brown, of Fulton; A. W. Bush, of St. Louis, and Mrs. G. W. Buskner, of Fulton.

Henry M. Leardley, concluding with a magnificent display of fire works.

The President Warmed Up to Her Sister, She Says, but Was Rather Frigid in His Treatment of the Fair Writer.

Paris, July 6.—Elinor Glyn regards Mark Twain as the most distinguished man in the United States.

To a reporter who called upon her at the Hotel Ritz Mrs. Glyn said:

"Mr. Clemens said many things to me with the air of a sage who was summing up his views of human life without prejudice or reserve. I wrote down his words while they were still fresh in my memory and sent him a copy. He returned it with a humorous letter, saying that my account was 'not quite the real thing.'"

"If you had put on paper what I really said it would have wrecked your typewriter," he wrote. "My own report of the same conversation reads like Satan roasting a Sunday School!"

"To find such eyes as his in an aged face," she went on, "proves many things as to hidden beauties in character."

The authoress of "Three Weeks" seemed distressed that some people regard her as a frivolous woman.

Her meeting with President Roosevelt impressed her but little. The president talked all the time to her sister. "Perhaps," Mrs. Glyn explained, "he had read 'Three Weeks' and did not like it, which would indicate a 'bourgeois soul.'"

She said the president reminded her of one of those machines that take a mass of concrete and crush it into a block like marble, such was the fierce snap of the president's jaw.

LOOSE-WILES - Kansas City

WON THE BALLOON RACE

"SAN ANTONIO" WAS FIRST, "ILLINOIS" SECOND AND "CHICAGO" THIRD.

NO RECORDS BROKEN, HOWEVER

The Flight Was Replete With Thrilling Adventures—Peterson and Leichter Injured During the Race.

Chicago, Ill., July 6.—All of the nine great balloons which started from this city Saturday afternoon have been accounted for. The Fielding-San Antonio, owned by Dr. Fielding, of San Antonio, Texas, wins the prize for the greatest distance covered. It is thought the Illinois is second and the Chicago third, but this will have to be determined later when the experts have figured out the distances.

No records were broken, but there were enough hair-raising adventures to make the event noteworthy. The most thrilling was the forty minutes in Lake Michigan by Capt. Mueller, of the French balloon, Ville de Dieppe, and his companion, a boy.

The Fielding-San Antonio was the only one to retain its gas during the entire day and landed about right-fall near West Shafford, Quebec. The Illinois fell into Lake Quinte, near Glen Island, five miles from Pinceton, Ontario, but the occupants, who wore life preservers, were able to get ashore with the assistance of a yachting party. The Chicago landed near the same spot. The other bags were brought down all within a radius of three counties in Michigan, near the shores of Lake Huron.

Dr. Fielding, owner of the winner, never rode a balloon before. He weighs 250 pounds, but became enthusiastic at the last moment and decided to accompany his pilot. In addition to the $2,000 prize, he wins $5,000 from Charles A. Coey, of Chicago.

The Ville de Dieppe fell into Lake Michigan at a point about three miles directly off shore, and her pilot, Capt. A. E. Mueller, with his 15-year-old assistant, George Schoeneck, battled in the darkness for three-quarters of an hour, half submerged in the waters of the lake.

By a display of extraordinary coolness and skill, Capt. Mueller contrived to save his own life and that of the boy, and to bring his balloon ashore intact.

To do this he sacrificed every ounce of ballast, cast loose his anchor and his ground rope, and took his chances in the upper air, knowing that he must later make a landing in the blackness.

The story of his escape from what seemed certain death was recited by the captain with a cheerful manner that savored not the least of bravado.

The United States, the Chicago and the Columbia came down in adjoining counties in the Province of Ontario, Canada, soon after daybreak Sunday morning at distances ranging from 400 to 500 miles from the starting point.

The Cincinnati, which got involved in a group of electric wires, as it left the ground, was dropped by Pilot Leslie Haddock at Covert, Mich., on the east shore of Lake Michigan, not far north of Benton Harbor.

The United States, Col. A. P. Shirley in charge, touched the earth a mile east of Pinkerton Station, Bruce county, Ontario, a distance something over 500 miles northeast of Chicago. Col. Shirley dropped his ground rope at 9:30 o'clock in the morning without accident.

The Columbia, Charles H. Leichter, of the Chicago Record-Herald, in charge, made a difficult landing one mile east of Clinton, Huron county, Ontario, soon after sun up Sunday.

The descent was forced by the rapid expansion of gas after the sun came up, which forced Mr. Leichter to relieve the tension on his bag by sacrificing his buoying power. The drop was precipitate, and a strong surface wind, which was blowing, forced the balloon through two wire fences before its momentum could be arrested. The occupants of the basket were cruelly mauled.

Mr. Leichter suffered a number of cuts on the hands and face and was severely bruised, while his companion, Col. Martin Peterson, of Troop F, I. N. G., sustained a broken rib and had his face and hands badly lacerated in the struggle to keep the bag free from obstructions. Both men were obliged to seek medical assistance as soon as they landed.

The King Edward, piloted by John Bennett, touched four miles west of Port Huron, Mich., at 3:30 a. m. Just ahead lay the stretch of Lake Huron, and the pilot dared not risk the flight with his bag sagging and his ship floating perilously near the surface.

The King Edward skimmed the crests of the waves in passing over Lake Michigan, where she had been sighted by Capt. Shirley. The captain feared that she had been lost in the darkness, and his first message from north after landing related to the balloon's supposed plight.

THE ANGLICAN BISHOPS

FORMALLY OPENED LAMBETH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE TODAY.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

Delivered Address in Lambeth Palace, Which Is Scene of Great Gathering of Church Dignitaries of World.

London, July 6.—Following the preliminary meetings of the last two days, the Lambeth international conference of Anglican bishops was formally opened today with an address by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Lambeth palace is the scene of the impressive gathering of church dignitaries from all over the world. Delegates from the United States outnumbered even those of Great Britain. Holy communion was celebrated at Westminster Abbey this morning.

Today's subject of discussion was "The Christian faith in relation to modern thought, science and philosophy." In the afternoon, "Reunion and inter-communion" will be dealt with, both as regards episcopal and non-episcopal churches, while the report of the committee appointed to consider the question of the "Unitas Fratrum" will be read. Tomorrow morning will be occupied with "Organization within the Anglican community," the debate covering the questions of a central consultative body, a tribunal of reference, the relations of primates and metropolitans in the colonies and elsewhere to the see of Canterbury, and the limitations of the authority of a diocesan bishop. In the afternoon the conference will consider the "Supply and training of clergy," and "The interchange of service at home and abroad," that is, temporary foreign service, cautionary regulations, and the colonial clergy act.

"The moral witness of the church in relation to the democratic ideal and social and economic questions" will be debated on the morning of Wednesday, and "Religious education in schools" in the afternoon. On Thursday morning, foreign missions will be discussed, the subject including the growth of the church on racial and national lines, both as regards Asia, Africa and America, and the correlation and co-operation of missionary agencies. "Prayer book adaptation and enrichment in connection with rubrics, text and lectionary, and with the Quicunque Vult," will be the subject in the afternoon. On Friday, marriage problems will occupy attention, including divorce, prohibited degrees, and artificial restriction on population; and in the afternoon "Ministries of Healing," including the union of the sick and faith healing and "Christian Science," will be dealt with. On the last day of the week the bishops will be concerned with the conditions requisite to the due administration of the holy communion, and the report of the committee on communities and deaconesses.

Resolutions will also be moved on international peace, Sunday observance, and the opium question. The devotional day for bishops will be held at Fulham palace on Thursday, July 23, the addresses being given by the Bishop of Calcutta, metropolitan of India. The two weeks following the principal business, that is, from July 13 to 25, will be taken up with meetings of the various committees appointed during the first week's sessions, and from July 27 to August 5 will be held the second group of sessions to receive and consider the reports of the various committees. The concluding service will be held in St. Paul's cathedral on Thursday, August 6.

Queer Surnames.

There are some queer names in Australia. A witness in a recent case at Melbourne responded to the clerk's call, "Lily Fury." In spite of her forbidding surname she seemed, according to the reporters, to be a very nice and amiable young lady. For many years the most fashionable physician in Sydney was a Dr. Angel Money. One of his patients, the late Sir Henry Parkes, six times prime minister, used to say it was the only name in the world that combined the celestial and the terrestrial.—London Chronicle.

MEET OF WHIST PLAYERS

THEY ARE GATHERED AROUND TABLES IN HOTEL MAJESTIC IN NEW YORK.

CANADA ALSO WELL REPRESENTED

Today's Contest Opened With the Contest for the Brooklyn Trophy — Four More Cups Than Last Year.

New York, July 6.—Several hundred devotees of the game of whist gathered about the tables in the Hotel Majestic today and inaugurated the eighteenth congress of the American Whist League. The players come from all sections of the country and Canada is also well represented. The present tournament is open to non-members of the league, provided they are introduced by members, and this has added largely to the attendance. As usual, many of the players who are prominent in professional or business life are playing under aliases.

Today's play opened with the contest for the Brooklyn trophy. Last year the contest for that trophy was so close that it was nearly a week after play had been finished before the tournament committee had been able to announce that the New England Whist association had won the possession of the trophy for the year.

Play in the Hamilton club trophy, won last year in Chicago by the Grand Rapids, Mich., club, will begin on Tuesday and continue through Friday night, when the finals will be reached. In the Hamilton trophy contest, play will start on Tuesday, and on Wednesday afternoon pairs will start playing for the much-coveted Minneapolis trophy.

In addition to the trophies played for last year, four more cups have been offered, two of which are given by Mrs. H. W. Cannon to the winners of the mixed pair section, while W. H. Barney and J. E. Faber, both well known players, donate a pair for the winners in the men's section. The cups in each case are to be held one year by the winners.

CURRENT BREAD MAKING.

Prize Recipes For Methods Used by Housewives in Various Parts of the World.

Current bread is coming into greater popularity every day. It takes the place of cake and is more economical as well as more wholesome than plain white bread. Following are a few of hundreds of recipes for making this staple received in recent competitions:

Whole Wheat Currant Bread.
Scald (do not boil) one and a half cups of sweet milk and a cup of water. When tepid add half a cake of yeast after soaking ten minutes in cool water, two tablespoonsful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in enough whole wheat flour to make a stiff batter. Allow to rise. Three hours is long enough if kept warm, overnight if cool. When light add an egg, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a cup of cleaned and dried currants. Beat well, then add whole wheat flour to make a soft dough. Work well, mold into two loaves, place in greased pans, brush over with melted butter, let raise until light, and then bake in hot oven. When brown, which should take about twenty minutes, cool the oven one-half and bake thirty minutes longer.

Newport Currant Bread.
Scald two and a half cups of milk. When cool add three tablespoonsful of sugar, a little salt and butter the size of an egg. Dissolve half of a compressed yeast cake in half a cup of warm water and add to milk. Stir in flour enough to make a batter and add a pound of currants washed and dried. Add flour in pans for baking. Be sure to allow enough time for bread to rise in the pans.

Princeton Currant Bread.
Boil one medium sized potato in a quart of water until soft. Scald a small cup of flour with the hot potato water and add mashed potato beaten thoroughly to prevent lumps. When cold add a cake of compressed yeast soaked in a little cold water. Let stand six hours to rise, then add a pint of warm water, a pound of thoroughly washed currants, a tablespoonful of lard, salt, two beaten eggs, a cup of brown sugar, cinnamon if desired and flour to make a stiff dough. Knead ten minutes, put into covered pan in a warm place to stand overnight and bake in the usual way. This recipe will make three large or six small loaves. This bread requires more time than white bread to rise.

Her One Advantage.

The waitress who marries a titled foreigner has one advantage. She need not be afraid that he will ever complain that her cooking isn't as good as his mother's used to be.

STEEL PLANTS ARE CLOSED

Republic Iron and Steel Co. Breaks With Union Labor.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 6.—The Republic Iron and Steel company has closed its eleven large plants because of failure to reach an agreement with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, Sheet and Tin Plate Workers, and it is proposed to operate the plants hereafter with non-union labor.

The Republic company is the last of the big steel and iron corporations to break with union labor, and if it accomplishes the change successfully it means the practical destruction of the Amalgamated association, which at one time was one of the most powerful bodies of organized labor in the country.

For a short time all the plants of the Republic company will be closed until repairs can be made. Then they will be started one at a time and all the men who apply for work will be concentrated at one mill until enough workmen are obtained to start another.

Hit or Miss.

A San Francisco man was talking with Mary Manning. "Do you expect ever again to appear with James K. Hackett, your husband?" he asked.

"Commerse," she replied, slowly and thoughtfully, "is not entirely to blame for the separation of stars even though they are married. A woman on the stage, as off, should not leave her husband. Conversely, a man on the stage or off should not leave his wife. They should be together. Separation in different shows means the beginning of trouble; it cannot be otherwise. I am sure of that, and if I knew when I was 18 years old—that was when I was married—that I know now, things would have been different with me. I am certain of that. Many things could have been settled then once and for all, which, left unsettled, have caused only heartaches and pain. That is the real tragedy of the stage, and as yet there is no play exploiting the theme."

BROOM A RELIC OF THE PAST.

Modern Housekeeping Declared to Have No Longer Use for It.

The newest household invention, found only in the buildings most recently erected, is the vacuum cleaning system, says the Delineator. The broom is almost ready to be relegated to the glass case of a museum and labeled a tool of ancient household industry, for now we are sweeping by electricity. All the dust and dirt is actually pumped out from a house and, through pipes in the walls, carried to the sewer. A rubber hose in the room, adjusted to a connection in the wall, communicates directly with the pump in the basement. The metal tool with a narrow groove in the underside, at the other end of the hose, is easily guided by the operator as it passes over the surface of floors, walls, furniture, clothing or bedding, sucking up every foreign particle.

There have recently been invented portable vacuum machines which may be operated at an expense of two cents an hour. The latest one is just on the market at a cost of only $125.

Hair as an Index of Health.

Modern medical men declare that the finger nails afford better evidence as to the state of a person's health than the eye or the color or texture of the skin. A very distinct gloss and a rapid growth of the nail are always, they declare, symptomatic of good circulation, digestion and general health. Dr. Matsuura, the well-known physician of Tokyo, while admitting the claims of the finger nail to be an index of the health, prefers that of the hair as indicating better than anything else loss and gain in physical well being. He has established from his observations that the hair grows less in volume in proportion as the health declines. He has even measured the extent of the decline by observing the decrease in the diameter of a series of hairs. Baldness, Matsuura, following his theory, declares to be due really to a constitutional weakness which does not, however, always actively declare itself even to the victim. He claims for the result of his investigations that if they do not necessarily serve the interests of pathological science, they cannot but prove valuable in the case of post-mortem examinations, inasmuch as they can decide as to the deceased person's state of health just before death.

BE A BIG WEEK IN SPORTS

SPEED-MAD MOTORISTS WILL NOW SEE WHAT THEY CAN ACCOMPLISH.

THEY WILL OCCUPY THE SPOTLIGHT

Crack Athletes of America and Europe to Contest in Olympian Games at London—Forecast of the Week.

New York, July 6.—Speed-mad motorists will occupy the spotlight in the sporting world this week, the two big events being the Grand Prix of France and the start of the Glidden tour in this country. As the premiere automobile racing event, the eyes of motorists throughout the world will tomorrow turn toward Dieppe, where forty-seven of the greatest speed machines ever built will contest in a dare-devil, death-defying struggle for international supremacy. The list of entries includes thirty-four French, six English, four Italian, two German and one American car. The latter is a Thomas and will be driven by Lewis Strang. The Thomas has drawn the fifteenth position in the start.

The Thomas entry for the Grand Prix is not only noteworthy in that it is the only American car entered, but it is also the lowest powered car in the race. There is little possibility in the opinion of experts, for an American victory, but the Thomas is confidently expected to finish well up in front. Reports from Paris state that Hemery, who drove a Benz racer to victory in the St. Petersburg-Moscow event, is a favorite.

The course and conditions are the same as those of last year. The course is a triangular one of about 77 kilometers, which the competitors will traverse ten times, making the total distance a little over 769 kilometers, approximately 477 miles.

The race last year was won by Nazzaro, an Italian, who covered the distance in 6:46:33, at an average speed of 74.5 miles an hour.

American motorists, too, will have a busy week of it. Following the big legislative and good roads convention to be held tomorrow and Wednesday in Buffalo, under the auspices of the American Automobile association, will be the start of the annual touring contest for the Glidden trophy. There will be twelve days of more or less arduous travel for the contestants, with two Sundays of rest intervening. The distance covered will be 1,669.7 miles, the start being from Buffalo on Thursday, with the finish at Saratoga Springs on July 22. The principal cities on the route are Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Albany, Boston and Bethlehem.

The present week will mark the gathering of all the crack athletes of America and Europe, who will compete in the Olympic games at the big stadium of the Franco-British exhibition, near London. While the athletic contests will not be commenced until next week, there will be two important Olympic competitions this week. The international grass court lawn tennis contest commences today, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday the rifle and pistol competitions will be held at Bisley. The American team is composed of some of the crack shots of the army and militia and a victory is confidently expected for American arms.

The calendar of important events of the week, day by day, is as follows:

Monday—Voiturette contest, Dieppe circuit, Automobile Club of France. Eighteenth congress of American Whist league opens in New York. International Horse show opens at The Hague, Holland.

Southern tennis championship begins at Atlanta Athletic club. Western Pennsylvania amateur tennis championship at Pittsburg. Open tennis championship of Englewood, N. J., Field club.

Olympic grass court lawn tennis competition begins in England. Tuesday—Grand Prix race of Automobiles.

PROTECT OUR INTERESTS IN THE LATIN REPUBLICS.

Firm Policy Needed to Secure Fair Treatment in South American States.

It is estimated that there are a thousand million dollars of United States capital invested in Central and South America. This amount is being constantly enlarged, and with the completion of the Panama canal there will be a further large increase of United States investments.

Through the international bureau of American republics our government officially invites the investment of capital in and the increase of trade with Latin America. But there it stops. It does not protect this trade or these investments after they have been built up.

Congress adjourned without action upon the claims of five American companies which asserted that they had been despoiled by Venezuela. All the government asked was arbitration. This was refused by President Castro, and no steps were taken to compel him to give the aggrieved companies their day in court. Similar conditions with respect to American interests exist in other South American countries.

These countries might as well make up their minds that long headed American business men will not put their money where it is in constant danger from the rapacity of irresponsible dictators. Our government also might well consider that the trade of the United States with the countries of South America can best be fostered by the adoption of a policy, as just as it is firm, of insisting upon fair treatment for American interests and upon prompt redress when these interests are attacked.—Exporter, June.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or aneurism are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ALL OVER BUT SHOUTING

CONVENTION THAT OPENS TOMORROW TO BE RATIFICATION MEETING.

ALL EYES ARE ON DENVER, COLO.

Who Will Be Nominated for Vice President?—This is the All Absorbing Question—The City Filled With Visitors.

Denver, Colo., July 6.—For president of the United States, William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska. For vice president—but let us not anticipate.

So far as the Nebraskan is concerned, it is all over but the shouting. The convention to be opened tomorrow by the democracy of the nation is to be a ratification meeting, not a free-for-all race. The hundreds of delegates and thousands of other visitors assembled here today are practically unanimous on this point. The New York and Minnesota delegations, with a few other anti-Bryan delegates, occupy forlornly a little island of their own, entirely surrounded by the dashing waves of Bryan enthusiasm. Their voices are drowned in the rumbling roar of the Bryan sea, whose sirens sing only the praises of the Peerless One. And the wreckage of this sea is the blasted hopes and bursted boom of John Johnson, of Minnesota.

And this is how it will come about. A thousand and odd delegates will gather in the brand new convention hall, the pride of chesty Denver, and after transacting the necessary preliminaries the chairman will announce that nominations are in order. The roll of states will be called, and when Nebraska is reached, the delegates and some ten or eleven thousand other leather-lunged disciples of democracy will make the welkin ring with shouts.

Then will arise in his place one Ignatius J. Dunn, city attorney of Omaha and one of the delegates at large from Nebraska. In language carefully and painstakingly selected from among the very choicest words from Webster, the orator from the banks of the Big Muddy will enumerate the civic virtues, the lofty statesmanship and the great ability of Nebraska's candidate for the presidential nomination.

Again the cheers of the delegates will ring throughout the hall, spread throughout the confines of the city and echo from peak to peak of the snow clad mountains.

With the restoration of parliamentary calm, Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, famous throughout the country as the sworn foe of the demon rum, will make the first seconding speech.

Afterward the formality of a vote. Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado—none of these delegations will lose any time in climbing into the Bryan band wagon. Little Delaware, with its six votes, will announce for its favorite son, Judge George Gray, and release into painful and abashed silence, Governor Johnson, who will be nominated by Winfield S. Hammond, congressman from the second Minnesota district, will get the vote of Minnesota, and possibly that of New York and New Jersey. These, however, are mere details. At Bryan headquarters it is alleged the Nebraskan will receive in the neighborhood of 800 votes on the first ballot. That will be a plenty, thank you, since only 672 are required for the necessary two-thirds to nominate.

With the formality of ratifying the candidacy of Bryan out of the way, the delegates will settle down to the transaction of the real business of the convention, that of agreeing on a vice presidential nominee. In this respect the gathering will be a counterpart of the republican convention in Chicago.

From all present indications, Governor Johnson has a decided lead in the vice presidential race. Little attention is paid to the announcement that he is not a candidate and will not accept. Those who favor him say that while he has been successful in Minnesota he has not won such a place in his party that he could afford to decline a nomination for second place on a democratic national ticket. They contend he is the only available man who would properly supplement Mr. Bryan's candidacy, say that he has been put forward as the candidate for the presidency by eastern democrats and urge that those democrats would support him just as strongly for the vice presidency, and they "must have him."

John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, is also prominently mentioned for second place on the ticket, and has many supporters among the delegates. It is believed that Mitchell would willingly accept the nomination, and his admirers insist that he would be of great assistance in securing an almost solid union labor vote for the democratic ticket this fall.

Among others mentioned for the vice presidency are William L. Douglas, of Massachusetts, Charles A. Towne and Cornelius A. Pugsley, of New York, and John W. Kern, of Indiana. Several "dark horses" are also being pushed by various state delegations, and one of these may be selected.

The platform makers will have a difficult time of it in formulating a statement of principles. The union labor leaders are busy and will attempt to secure an anti-injunction plank in accordance with their ideas on the subject. Both the brewers and the Anti-Saloon league have established lobbies and the temperance question may be injected into the convention. The National Good Roads association will attempt to secure the insertion of a plank preaching the gospel of highways improvement.

A full meeting of the national organization will be held today, when many mooted questions will be decided.

Denver has never before been called upon to entertain such vast crowds as are in the city today, and as special trains are still pouring thousands into the city this morning, it is feared that the hostesses of the city will prove inadequate for their proper entertainment. Many of the parties, however, will sleep in Pullman cars.

The decorations of the city are of an elaborate nature, and have elicited the praise of the delegates and visitors. Bunting and flags have been freely used on all the principal streets and thousands of electric lights have been strung. A feature which is attracting much attention is a royal tiger, a papier mache, erected at the principal street corner of the city.

The great auditorium, which will seat 12,500 people, with standing room for many more, is fully completed and in readiness for the opening of the convention tomorrow. The committee in charge has decided to prohibit the sale or use of any intoxicants within the hall, and those afflicted with a chronic thirst will be forced to load up between sessions.

He is Booking Some Fine Attractions for Sedalia.

Dr. H. W. Wood, owner of Wood's opera house and general manager and booking director of the New Southwestern Theatrical circuit, comprising thirty-five cities in the middle west, writes the Democrat-Sentinel from New York, under date of the 3d, as follows:

"I have been receiving a copy of the Democrat-Sentinel each day, which gives me the Sedalia news in general, and is appreciated very much.

"New York is certainly the greatest place on earth, so many improvements being made lately in the way of elevated lines, subways, and every thing imaginable for the benefit of the public.

"When we first came we stopped at the Albany hotel, but now we are located at Brighton Beach, an excellent bathing place, and I tell you it is fine. I run into the office each day and do the work and return to the beach. I enjoy the ride very much. It is only about twelve miles. We go in the ocean bathing most every day.

"I am booking lots of good attractions over the circuit, and the Sedalians have a treat in store the coming season."

FLEET SAILS TOMORROW

HEADED BY THE CONNECTICUT IT WILL STEAM OUT OF FRANCISCO BAY.

IT WILL NOW VISIT STRANGE LANDS

Expected to Arrive at Honolulu on July 16 and Remain Seven Days—At Yokohama the Fleet Will Be Divided.

San Francisco, July 6.—Headed by the Connecticut, the flagship of Rear Admiral Sperry, the Atlantic fleet of battleships will steam out of San Francisco bay tomorrow morning and sweep away, in majestic array, out into the Pacific.

All is in readiness for the great fighting machines to weigh anchor and begin the second long leg of the world tour, which will take Uncle Sam's voyagers to many strange lands of the far east before they again arrive at an American city on the Atlantic seaboard.

Rear Admiral Capps, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy department, will accompany the fleet as far as Honolulu.

Admiral Capps will make an inspection of the site of the proposed naval station at Pearl Harbor, and will report upon the location of the dry dock and the various buildings of the station. He will also make a report to Secretary Metcalf on the fleet's cruise from San Francisco to Hawaii.

A board of naval officers will convene at Honolulu upon the arrival of the fleet there for the purpose of inspecting and recommending the location of the new dry dock and the buildings of the proposed naval station at Pearl Harbor.

The itinerary of the fleet provides for its arrival at Honolulu on July 16, remain seven days; arrive at Auckland on August 9, remain six days; arrive at Sydney on August 20, remain seven days; arrive at Melbourne on August 29, remain seven days; arrive at Albany, Australia, (for coal) on September 11, remain six days; arrive at the Philippines on October 1, remain nine days; arrive at Yokohama on October 17, remain seven days.

At Yokohama the fleet will be divided, the first squadron going to Manila, scheduled to reach there on October 31. The second squadron will go to Amoy, reaching there on October 29, and after a stay of six days, will go to Manila, reaching there November 7.

Great receptions will be accorded the sailors and officers at all the ports visited, and those at Honolulu, Auckland, Melbourne and Yokohama will be especially notable.

THE "CUBS" WANT BAYLESS

Reference Not Had to the Sedalia "Cubs," However.

President Charles Murphy, of the world's champion Chicago Cubs, recently looked over Dick Bayless, a former Joplin outfielder, with a view of purchasing the speedy lad.

Bayless has attracted much attention in the Central league by his wonderful fielding, base-running and batting for the Dayton, O., club.

He is considered one of the really big stars of the league and not a few major league managers have instructed their scouts to observe his work closely.

In fact, Cincinnati has offered to buy the clever outer gardener, together with Bescher and Walker, two other stars of the Dayton team. The offer was refused, however, the Dayton management refusing to part with its crack players in mid-season.

Bayless is at present hitting over the .300 mark, and is stealing bases in marvelous form. He is certain to go up next season, either by the draft or purchase route. Jack Rowan, the former Leavenworth twirler, now one of the big twirling stars of the Central league, is also wanted by major league clubs.

A Party of Sedalians Chaperoned by Mr. Will Wentzleman.

A party of twenty-five men, women and children, chaperoned by Will Wentzleman, the well known Ohio street druggist, spent Sunday fishing on Flat creek, at a point eight miles southeast of Sedalia and fared quite well.

Besides a few small fish, the party landed a forty-pound catfish, which Will said appeared to be a whale. It was the largest species of the finny tribe ever taken from the creek. Will says, and the inhabitants of that section stood amazed when the saw the catch.

HOSTS ARE GATHERING

DENVER IS FILLING UP WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF A GREAT PARTY.

AT SEA REGARDING PLATFORM

So Also as to the Vice Presidency—All Candidates for First Place Will Remain in the Field.

Denver, Colo., July 6.—Judge Gray's name as a candidate for president has not been withdrawn, and under no circumstances will it be withdrawn, said Josiah Marvel, manager of the Gray forces, this morning. This answer is given to the persistent reports circulated about the hotel corridors last night and today that those in charge of his interests had received orders from Judge Gray instructing them explicitly not to permit his name to go before the convention. No such message has been received and Judge Gray remained absolutely silent as to the presidency, neither furthering nor retarding the work of friends in any way.

The Gray men are therefore feeling more confident than ever, despite the apparent strong tide for Bryan, as they claim that reports from many delegations give a distinct reality to their hopes.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., July 6.—Theodore A. Bell, who is scheduled to call the democratic convention to order tomorrow, may not be in the city at the appointed time, as the floods have practically cut off Lincoln from all railroad communication with the outside world. Bell reached Fairview, Mr. Bryan's home at noon today, and Mr. Bryan, who has been talking by telephone with the officials of four railroads running through Lincoln, told him that his only hope of getting out of the city lay in a special train, which is scheduled to leave over the Union Pacific. Late in the day arrangements were made and it is believed that Mr. Bell can reach the convention city on time.

Towne's Boom Is Growing. Denver, Colo., July 6.—At the vice presidential headquarters of Charles A. Towne, of New York, today, favorable reports are being received. It was claimed from many arriving delegations are showing the entire delegation for Towne, except two, who favored Jean Mitchell. Oklahoma, Alabama and Mississippi delegations are claimed to stand for Towne.

Johnson Still in the Race. Denver, Colo., July 6.—Frederick I. Lynch, manager of Governor Johnson's presidential campaign, today denied in emphatic terms the report that Johnson's name has been or would be withdrawn from the contest.

Guffey Re-Elected a Committeeman. Denver, Colo., July 6.—Col. James M. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, was today re-elected as the member of the democratic national committee from that state, although several delegates left the caucus before it was done, declaring the proceeding irregular.

Talking of Francis Some.

Denver, July 6.—There are great crowds here; all hotels are full and thousands yet to come. The platform is the greatest element of discussion in all places where the crowds gather. Little is said about the second place and most everyone is at sea as to who will land, although many lightning rods have been erected. The Missouri delegation is talking Francis very vigorously. It meets at 8 o'clock tonight to select the committeeman.

Col. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, almost took the delegates off their feet in the proclamation against Bryan issued this morning, and but little else is talked about. He denounced Mr. Bryan as an ingrate, would-be boss and hypocrite. His language is unusually strong and vitriolic and has produced a sensation.

A WRECK DELAY'D THEM

Mr. and Mrs. Kahn Had Unpleasant Experience Last Night.

Sylvian Kahn, wife and daughter arrived home this morning from Excelsior Springs, Mo., where they had been sojourning for a week. The train on which Mr. and Mrs. Kahn were passengers was held at La monte over four hours by reason of a breakdown to the wrecking outfit which was bringing the two engines demolished in last Thursday's wreck to Sedalia.

The breakdown occurred between Lamonte and Dresden and all trains were held until the wrecker reached Dresden, when it took the siding to permit the resumption of traffic.

By reason of the accident, Mr. and Mrs. Kahn and other passengers did not reach Sedalia until 1 o'clock this morning, when they should have arrived at 9:15 last night.

BURTON DEMOCRAT NOW

THE FORMER KANSAS SENATOR WILL SUPPORT NOMINEE AT DENVER.

HAS SEEN THE ERROR OF HIS WAYS

Cannot Support Taft, Whose Nomination Was Brought About, Mr. Burton Says, by Use of Federal Patronage.

Denver, Colo., July 6.—The accession of ex-United States Senator J. R. Burton, of Kansas, to the ranks of the democratic party, at least for the next campaign, has been announced.

Mr. Burton came in with the Kansas delegation, and while not a delegate, mingled freely with the democrats of that state. He lost no time in making known his intention of supporting the nominee of the Denver convention, and expressed the opinion that the honor of that nomination would be awarded to Mr. Bryan.

"I won't," he said, "support Taft, for the reason that his nomination was secured through the use of patronage, and I regard the use of patronage as the most corrupting thing in government. I would not support a republican or a democrat or anybody who was nominated as Mr. Taft was, by the misuse of public office." "The supreme question is, shall we have a democracy or a despotism? Roosevelt has made more progress for autocracy in this country than all the other presidents we have ever had, and less for democracy. He has given us a political trust that is a thousand times more dangerous than all the commercial trusts, and the first trust to be busted is the political trust. That trust is founded on patronage, and it can be destroyed only by destroying patronage."

"Just as Mr. Bryan said Saturday the paramount question is whether this government shall be controlled by a political oligarchy or by the people. The tariff and all other questions fall into insignificance when compared with this question of the use of patronage. For this reason if for no other I shall support the nominee of the democratic convention."

LOST ALL THREE GAMES

Sedalia "Cubs" Returned From Versailles This Morning.

The Sedalia Cubs returned this morning from Versailles, where they played three games of ball with the team there, losing all of them by scores that were not a discredit.

A double header was played Saturday, the Cubs losing the first game by a score of 5 to 3, and the second by a score of 7 to 5. The game Sunday was won by Versailles by a score of 4 to 2.

The people of Versailles say the games were the best played there this year, and even in defeat, only words of praise were bestowed upon the Cubs.

The features of the three contests were the pitching and batting of Tom Duvenick and Billy Owens and the throwing of Shad Wilkinson.

The Versailles club is one of the best amateur nines in Central Missouri, and the team that beats them will have to go some, to say the least.

Next Sunday the Cubs will go to Holden and play the club there in the afternoon.

KATY "FLYER" DERAILED

WRECK OF M. K. & T. ENGINE AT FORSYTHE JUNCTION SUNDAY MORNING.

ONE MAN KILLED AND FOUR INJURED

The Flyer Used Wabash Tracks From Moberly—Condition of Injured Serious—Rescue of the Engineer.

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—One man was killed, another critically injured and three others were bruised when a Missouri, Kansas & Texas east-bound passenger crashed into a freight train, opposite the Forsythe Junction tower on De Baliviere avenue yesterday morning at 8:50 o'clock after the block tower man threw the derailing switch.

The Dead. FIELDS W. LONG, of Moberly, Mo., 35 years old, Wabash conductor, acting as pilot on the Katy, scalded from head to foot and right forearm fractured. Died at St. Mary's infirmary at 9 o'clock last night.

The Injured. Mike Collins, 54 years old, Hannibal, Mo., M. K. & T. engineer, badly scalded and internally injured. Taken to St. Mary's infirmary. Orrville Clayton, fireman, New Franklin, Mo., bruised about face and body.

H. Goodwin, Sedalia, Mo., messenger, American Express company, bruised. F. L. McNichols, St. Louis, express clerk, right arm crushed by falling safe in express car.

The accident occurred on the Wabash tracks, which the Katy had been using from Moberly to St. Louis since the flood. Just how the collision occurred is not known. Both the engineer and fireman, who had never before made the run, said that they did not see the freight cars across the track until it was too late.

Long Did Not See Freight.

Long, the dead man, who was an experienced Wabash conductor, was in the engineer's cab, as is customary when one railroad is using tracks of another road, keeping the engineer informed as to curves, grades, block signals, etc. He did not notice the freight until the passenger was within a few feet of it.

F. A. Phillips, the tower man of No. 4299 Evans avenue, saw the Katy coming and set the block signal, but not quick enough, as the train plunged by.

The locomotive fell over across the right-of-way, dragging the combination mail and smoker, but the other coaches, filled with several scores of passengers, remained on the track.

Long, the pilot, was caught under the cab and engulfed in a shower of steam from the broken boiler. He was scalded from head to foot. With the aid of Collins, the engineer, who was only partially pinned, he was dragged from beneath the wreckage.

Heroism of Engineer. The engineer was severely burned and scalded, but he carried his blinded and semiconscious pilot a few feet across the right of way. They both fell unconscious. They were removed to St. Mary's infirmary, where they were attended by Dr. W. A. McCandless.

Long never recovered consciousness. His entire body had been scalded, his forearm was broken in

MAY CALL OUT MILITIA

SOLDIERS TALKED OF TO PUT ON THE LID IN THE COUNTY OF ST. LOUIS.

THE SALOONS OPEN ON SUNDAY

Assistant Attorney General John Kenneth Has Gone to Scene to See What Shall Be Done in the Premises.

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—It was stated by a democrat high in St. Louis county circles yesterday that if Assistant Attorney General John Kenneth does not succeed in helping the grand jury nail the lid down tight, Gov. Folk will be requested to send the state militia to do it.

"In fact," said the man, "we have already conferred with the governor, and he is willing to go to these ends to put the lid on."

If Kenneth in his deliberations with the grand jury this week does not find a remedy for the saloon violations, as soon as Folk gets back from Denver, where he is attending the national democratic convention, he will endeavor to send soldiers here. He has threatened to do this before, but is now in earnest about it.

The lid has been on generally in the county this summer. There are saloons which have been open nearly every Sunday, but as a rule the law has been observed. Kenneth is expected in Clayton Wednesday.

"Steve" Brown Heard From.

"Steve" Brown, who, in company with Ed James, conducted a bar at the Antlers hotel and later at the Hotel Huckins, is now located at Texico, New Mexico, where he is conducting a saloon and billiard hall and is doing well. No more clever caterer ever did business in Sedalia than "Steve" Brown, and he has a host of friends here who will be glad to learn of his success in his new home.

FAST TRAINS COLLIDED

SOMEBODY, SOMEWHERE, SOMEHOW, MADE A SERIOUS "MISTAKE."

COMPANY NOT TO BLAME, OF COURSE

General Manager Kindling Issues a Statement: to the Public—A Takeoff in the Kansas City Independent.

Here is an alleged dispatch from Apple Center, Ia., printed in "The Daily Slush," a department in The Independent, published in Kansas City Saturday, that, in reading between the lines, may be a takeoff on the Missouri Pacific growing out of last Thursday's head-end collision at Knob Noster:

Train No. 7, a fast passenger from Keokuk, collided with No. 18, the Dubuque mail, three miles east of here at 6:12 o'clock this morning, killing five passengers and injuring forty. Eight persons, among them baggage men, mail clerks and express messengers, are missing. It is feared they have gone to Europe.

Passengers who survived the wreck were brought here. Several of them told the local correspondent of Slush that the wreck occurred in a deep cut on a curve. All the killed, except the trainmen, were in the smoker. This car had been discarded twenty-four years ago from the Central branch where it had been used in transporting live stock for several years before being put in service on the main line for a smoking car.

"The smoking car was splintered to fragments as though it were an egg shell," Hiram Bushy, of up Dry Creek way, said to The Slush reporter. "The Pullman cars escaped without a scratch. I believe their escape was due to better construction, although I know little about railroad cars."

General Manager Kindling issued a statement late today, denying that the wreck occurred in a deep cut. The statement follows: "The accident could not have occurred on a curve. A look of the maps issued by us of our road will show in a second that there isn't a curve in the track from Keokuk to Dubuque. I can not see how the accident could have occurred. The engineer of train No. 7 has been with us sixty-eight years, while the engineer of train No. 18 has been driving the same engine for seventy-two years. Neither has an immoral habit."

"We fear that a gang of tramps intercepted messengers from the dispatcher at Bedelia. That some one is to blame for the accident we feel sure. We have turned the matter over to the Stinkerton Detective agency and expect it to claim the reward any day. The operator at Apple Center, the scene of the wreck, is a most careful man. He has been in our employ more than two months. The place is in eager demand by operators, as it pays $35 a month, and we have had none but conscientious men there as a consequence. The blame lies between the dispatcher at Bedelia, the operator at Apple Center and the tramps. We know that our attorneys in the trials of the cases that are sure to grow out of the belief by so many covetous persons that corporations must be blamed for every trifling mishap, will show that no particle of blame rests upon the company."

A SCHOOL DAY ROMANCE

COOPER COUNTY MAIDEN LOST HER HEART TO SON OF INDIAN CHIEF.

MADE LOVE WHILE AT COLUMBIA, MO

Sat in Their Respective Windows, on Opposite Sides of the Street, and There It Was Question Was Popped.

The Kansas City Journal of Sunday had the following romance of local interest:

Many students who have attended Columbia university have had at least one love affair while they were receiving an education. These love affairs are designated by the young people as "cases." Most of the affairs are between the men and women of the university. A few young men, however, are won by the hearts of some girl attending one or the other of the colleges exclusively for girls. This latter is what William Butler Bushyhead, of Talequah, Ok., did.

The young woman who possessed sufficient charms to lure the descendant of a prominent Cherokee chief away from the wife of a university coed was Miss Nina Ruby Walker, of Pleasant Green, Mo. The young women of the two girls' schools are only allowed to have men callers one hour each month. The only other times the girls are allowed to speak to the men is upon the occasion of a reception held in the college parlors.

These two young people, however, did not allow the college rules to interfere with their daily love making. To make it all the more interesting the rules were broken. The Indian boy rented a room in a boarding house directly opposite to the Baptist college, where his sweetheart was going to school.

In their young days each had learned the art of talking on their fingers. Now the two people revived their childish accomplishment and while the favored young lady sat on the window sill of her room in the college building her lover was in the window of his room across the street.

Every move Miss Walker made with her fingers was closely followed by the eagle-eyed young Indian, who immediately signaled back his answer and then asked a question of his own. It was during one of these signal talks that he proposed that their lives be made into one and with a joyous nod and furious working of fingers she answered in the affirmative.

When their school days were over they returned to their respective homes and told the news to their parents. All Columbia college and university society was deeply interested in this novel and unique method of making love and it is spoken of with a sort of reverence by the younger students who have heard of it from the upper classmen.

Bushyhead is the son of Chief Bushyhead, who died a few years ago after serving as chief of the Cherokee nation for twelve years. He is a graduate of Cumberland university, where he matriculated after leaving Missouri university. He is admitted to the Oklahoma bar, and is practicing law at Muskogee.

Miss Walker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Walker, of Pleasant Green, Mo. Her father is a wealthy stockman and the young lady is related to some of the most prominent families in Missouri. The young people will be married some time late this fall and will go to live on the old Bushyhead ranch near Tahlequah, where the fortunate young man is building a large modern house for his bride-to-be.

NEW CAR SHOPS OPENED

MISSOURI PACIFIC BEGAN OPERATIONS ON THE PIECE WORK SYSTEM.

FIFTEEN CARPENTERS REPORTED

There is Work for Ten Times That Number and Also for Many Truckmen—Chance for Some of the Strikers.

The new freight car shops of the Missouri Pacific Railway company were formally opened at the new shops this morning. A force of fifteen carpenters and many truckmen reported for duty, and will be employed under John L. Wigton, formerly master carbuilder for the M. K. & T. here, who is to superintend the work for the company. Under the new arrangement the men will be employed on piece work, the standard scale of wages being paid—the same scale that is paid on many of the largest roads in the country.

Mr. Shoemaker, of St. Louis, was here in the interest of the company, and formally checked Foreman Wigton into the work this morning.

In the meantime the regular force of car repairers will be continued at the old shops of the company, but the piece work system will not be in vogue there.

Master Mechanic M. J. McGraw stated to the Democrat-Sentinel this morning that Foreman Wigton has employment for between 200 and 300 carpenters, and as this force is increased additional truckmen will also be put to work.

Mr. McGraw stated further that any of the carmen who struck at the old shops on May 28 against the adoption of the piece work system will be given employment at the new shops, provided they have done nothing since the strike that is objectionable to the company.

On May 28, when the men struck, there were 62 persons on the payroll, and a good many of them are still here, they having been idle ever since they walked out.

"There is no occasion for any carman being idle now," said Mr. McGraw in conclusion, "and I hope the car shops will soon be running with a full force of men."

ACROSS THE DEEP BLUE SEA

"Mike" McGinley and L. H. Archias Write the Democrat-Sentinel.

The Democrat-Sentinel is in receipt of a souvenir postal card from "Mike" McGinley that is a thing of beauty. Beneath the words, "Hands Across the Sea," and the flags of America and Ireland, woven in silk, are two clasped hands, with the words, "R. M. S. Cedric," this being the vessel on which the Sedalians sailed on June 18. Mr. McGinley writes as follows:

"At Sea, June 24.—Will land tomorrow at Queenstown. Had fine weather across. No sickness, but a good time. Had a nice visit with Frank Moore in New York."

The Democrat-Sentinel is also in receipt of a picturesque postal card from L. H. Archias, dater Marseilles, France, June 23, reading as follows: "This is a busy place. We visited the 'International Exposition d'Electricite' today and were disappointed in not seeing a single American exhibit. Weather fine. Leave for Italy next week."

A third "carte postale" is from Emil Bichsel, it being dated Bruxelles, Belgium, June 25, and reads as follows:

"We arrived in Belgium yesterday in good health and feeling fine. Leave for London tomorrow. Having a fine trip."

SANTA FE HAD WRECK

Winfield, Kas., July 6.—Archibald Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train No. 17, westbound, due here at 6 o'clock this morning, left the rails at Seelye, seven miles north, while running sixty miles an hour.

The locomotive and four coaches were overturned, but no one was seriously injured. W. R. Stubbs, a Kansas politician, was a passenger and escaped without injury.

Much Cooler Tonight.

Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday, with probably showers and thunder storms; much cooler.

JUST A COMPARISON.

The Democrat-Sentinel may be pardoned if it refers with very natural pride to its issue of Sunday morning, containing as it did ninety-eight columns of news and advertising matter, all good and readable and being more than twice the amount published by any other newspaper between St. Louis and Kansas City.

This paper always publishes from one-eighth to one-half more than any other in Central Missouri, and while giving its readers just that much more for their money than any contemporary, the price is only 45 cents per month. Endeavoring to give value received, and more to its subscribers, it extends an invitation to those who are not now on its list to join the happy family and become one of its satisfied constituency.

AS TO PENSIONING EX-PRESIDENTS.

There is some discussion throughout the country of pensioning the family of the late President Cleveland by a special act of congress. Without considering whether such an act would be acceptable to Mrs. Cleveland, which is doubtful, the proposal for this specific case seems to meet with approval. The feeling is doubtless due to the impression generally existing that the late statesman left his wife and children in reduced circumstances, comparatively speaking. Just what the Cleveland estate amounts to and what the income of the widow may be are matters of conjecture, but later reports indicate that Mrs. Cleveland has a comfortable competence, probably sufficient for her own needs and for the education and care of her children. There are, however, a number of reasons, partly of a political nature, aside from any personal sensitiveness which might obtain, why Mrs. Cleveland probably would oppose congressional action of this character. Still, the question of pensioning ex-presidents and their families is raised by the position of dependency in which it is popularly, though probably erroneously, supposed the widow of Cleveland is left. While there would, we believe, be sharp division of public opinion on the matter as an abstract proposition, still, if Mrs. Cleveland were to give her tacit assent to the passage of such a bill, it is not likely that it would meet, in her case any opposition in congress. Congressmen might be averse to establishing a precedent of this character, but it is hardly conceivable that they would oppose the pensioning of the family of an ex-president who rendered such conspicuous public service. The meager presidential salary now paid the nation's chief executive is one of the strongest arguments in favor of pensioning them after they leave the White House, and their families after they are dead. A man who serves four years as president must, in order to escape downright poverty at the close of his term, possess an ample fortune at its beginning, while eight years in the White House is enough to bankrupt the man with an average private income.

A number of our presidents have died poor and some of them have been dependent upon help of friends even while in the executive chair. We have fewer than a score of presidents in a century. To provide for them and their families would be no hardship upon the nation. And if we do not provide for them suitably while in the White House, we certainly ought to after they leave it, impoverished by public service which is of incalculable value to the republic.

WAS TAFT HONEST?

In the recent telegraphic correspondence between the Hon. W. J. Bryan and the Hon. W. H. Taft, with reference to campaign fund publicity, it was generally conceded that Mr. Taft had come out of the controversy with flying colors.

Mr. Bryan had undertaken to entrap, or, at least, embarrass Mr. Taft by taking him unawares, but Mr. Taft was fully awake to the necessity of being in accord with the highest professions on this important subject, and he not only put himself on record more completely but more forcibly than the democratic chief.

Mr. Taft's reply in this instance was another demonstration of the superior moral courage and the superior ability of Rooseveltian leadership, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. All political observers thought they perceived at once that in the event of his nomination, Mr. Taft's campaign fund, at least, would be kept free from predatory wealth, from the polluting influence of the unscrupulous corporation, from the debauching persuasion of the wealthy malefactor.

Yet in the recent republican national convention, the forty-six votes of the state of Ohio, which not only willingly, but cheerfully acknowledged the Hon. W. H. Taft as their sole owner—the forty-six votes that were absolutely at his disposal to do as he pleased with at any time—were cast on a roll call solidly against the proposal to make public all contributions to national campaign funds.

Of course, there is something queer here. What it is we do not know, but we surmise it would be uncharitable to guess.

The "Peaceful Bill" and the "Sunny Jim" clubs which the republicans expect to organize ought to be reversed. They ought to be "Sunny Bill" and "Peaceful Jim." Taft certainly stands in the same relation to Roosevelt that a callow youth stands to his father, while Sherman must be a man of peace, as it has never been told that he was a member of the rough rider band, and as he has been appointed to no high office it must be so.

Indications from the experiments of Prof. Fisher, of Yale college, are that mental endurance, is promoted by a diet relatively free from highly nitrogenous food, such as meat and eggs. The practical value, therefore, of such diet is not the ability to perform gymnastic feats or take endurance tests in the laboratory, but to enable people to do more work, whether physical or mental, in a shorter time.

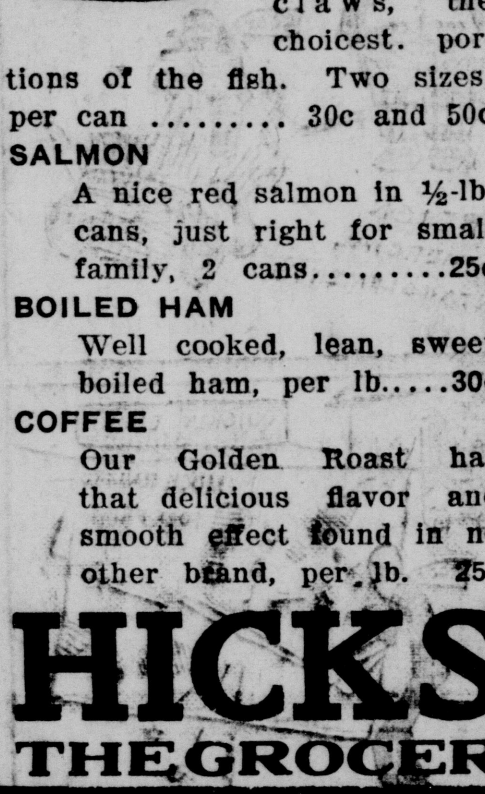

On the same day the republican national convention was eulogizing Roosevelt for the prosecution of illegal trusts and monopolies, the best trust which had been prosecuted and convicted was unblushingly raising the price of beef from 20 to 30 per cent. The word hardly squares with the deed.

Does the foreigner pay the tax on wood pulp and print paper, or is it only on steel products, cloth, shoes, glass, sugar, lumber, etc., that he pays out taxes for us? Any republican can answer this question.

"We are all creatures of the tariff," says Mr. Carnegie. Does the "all" here include the victims who are fleeced by it, as well as the favored interests, which have made hundreds of millions out of it?

They are going to bring snow down from the mountains to cool the democratic national convention. But won't this be rather severe on the feet of some of the candidates?

His friends call him "Big Bill," the republicans call him "Smiling Bill," but there are thousands of voters in this country who prefer to call him "Injunction Bill."

What's the use of having all this trouble over vice presidents? Why not let the president's appoint them?

TAMMANY NOW WAITING

CHARLES F. MURPHY WILL NOT HELP BRYAN IF HE CAN DEFEAT HIM.

THIS IS THE NEWS FOR DENVER

Careful Survey of Delegates Is Being Made Before Definite Decision Regarding Vote of the Empire State Is Made.

Denver, July 6.—New York will throw its solid vote of seventy-eight against William J. Bryan for president if the Gray and Johnson managers can prove to Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany hall, that enough votes can be assured to block the nomination of Bryan on the first ballot.

The managers for Gray and Johnson have been given until tomorrow morning to make good their declaration that Bryan has not in sight two-thirds of the delegates.

Three separate conferences were held by Mr. Murphy Sunday afternoon. The first was with Josiah Marvel and Richard Beamish, representing Mr. Gray, the second was with Frank B. Lynch, manager, and Mr. Day, secretary to Governor Johnson, and the third was with Charles W. Bryan, brother of the presidential candidate. At the first conference with the Gray managers Lewis Nixon, of New York, who is a supporter of Bryan, was also present.

The Tammany boss said that he did not want the New York delegation to make any mistakes. New York will make itself felt, he said, if it can be assured that it is working along intelligent lines.

Mr. Murphy said that he was unwilling to take the group estimates which had been made of the strength of the various presidential candidates.

"If there are 350 delegates here," said he, "counting New York who are opposed to Mr. Bryan, and who will not stand for him on the first ballot, I want you to give me their names."

Mr. Murphy said he was unwilling to take the statement that there were so many delegates of this delegation and so many delegates of that opposed to Bryan, but wanted the lists submitted to him in such shape that he could have his personal representative make a canvass of the delegation.

In a later conference with the Johnson managers, Murphy submitted similar proposition. Last night the managers for Gray and Johnson began their task of compiling a list of delegates hostile to Bryan. This list will be supplemented by another.

Delegates instructed for Bryan will leave him after the first ballot. There are 1,002 delegates in the convention and 568 are necessary for a nomination under the two-thirds rule.

The last conference of Murphy was with Charles W. Bryan, brother of the candidate. Mr. Bryan submitted a statement showing that his brother would have 897 delegates without New York.

Mr. Murphy told Mr. Bryan that the statement was in no particular satisfactory to him. Before New York would decide how its vote should be cast he demanded that he have an opportunity himself or through his agents of questioning each delegate pledged to Mr. Bryan.

The action taken by Murphy simply means that New York will go to Bryan if its vote is not necessary. It is the first practical step which has been taken to determine exactly the strength of Bryan in the convention. If Mr. Bryan has as many votes outside the state of New York as he claims to have, he will receive the solid vote of that state. But if he has only 618 delegates on whom he can depend New York will be prepared to block his nomination.

James M. Guffey sent word last night to the Johnson managers that more than half the Pennsylvania delegation of sixty-eight would be opposed to Bryan on the first ballot.

Here is a difference in the count of more than twenty votes from the Bryan estimates of fifty-one in Pennsylvania if Guffey's figures are correct. The total vote which would be cast for Mr. Bryan is altogether a matter of speculation. It is not unlike the vote cast for Taft in Chicago.

Mr. Taft had instructed and positively committed to him more votes than were necessary to give him the nomination, but there were perhaps 1000 delegates who would have voted against him could their votes have helped to defeat him. And so it is with Mr. Bryan. The margin by which it is hoped to hold one-third of the convention against Bryan is very close.

To block the Bryan nomination 355 votes will be necessary. At their most liberal calculation Gray and Johnson managers cannot count upon more than 360. It is not at all probable that Mr. Murphy would consent to enter into this combination unless the 360 delegates bound themselves to stand out against Bryan through the most solemn assurances.

The indications all point to the inability of the Bryan opposition to make a convincing showing to the New York delegation.

Starts on a Long Journey.

New York, July 6.—With only the minimum amount of supplies and equipment, Commander Peary's exploring ship Roosevelt will leave this afternoon for the initial stage of her journey toward the North Pole.

DOES AWAY WITH A NUISANCE.

One Druggist Has Effectually Stopped "Visiting" Over 'Phones.

One of the things which helps to make life interesting for the corner druggist is the thoughtless custom many persons have of holding extended conversations over the telephone. Women especially are guilty of this fault, and the patient druggist has to suffer in silence while the young lady with the fascinator wrapped around her head tells her best friend "how it happened." Even though a half dozen persons are waiting to telephone for really important business, the young woman must tell the story two or three times to prevent any misunderstanding.

But a druggist has solved the problem. He experimented for months before he was finally successful. The last vain effort to stop the nuisance was to hand out stamped envelopes bearing the words: "This doesn't mean anything in particular." Most of the 'phone users accepted the envelopes and walked out. Now the druggist has placed a sign above the telephone which keeps the talkative ones awake while they exercise their voices and acts as an effective reminder that time is fleeting.

The sign reads as follows:

: DON'T GO VISITING OVER THE :
: 'PHONES. :
: ASK THE CLERK FOR CAR :

An American Scholar's Work.

It should be humiliating for Englishmen to reflect that it was left to an American, the late Francis James Child, to compile the five thick volumes of "English and Scottish Popular Ballads," which are familiar and invaluable to all students of this subject. But self-reproach is forgotten in admiration of his work. Child himself unfortunately did not live to finish his task. However, he was more than a scholar and an editor; he was the founder of a school, and he had the gift of being able to transmit to others both his learning and his zeal.

Suffragists with Humor.

Miss Vera Wentworth, a British suffragist, was kept in Holloway jail a day beyond her companions for cutting "Votes for Women!" on the wall of her cell. She says: "We used to make the whole ward laugh by playing 'Votes for Women' tunes on my comb. One day we organized a great lark. By putting our ears to the walls we could hear the prisoner in the next cell, and so we all agreed to roar like hungry animals at dinner time. We made a fearful noise, but the wardress could do nothing, because there were so many of us."

COL. GREEN CLAY STRICKEN

Delegate From Mexico, Mo., Has an Acute Attack of Indigestion

Denver, Colo., July 6.—Col. Green Clay, of Mexico, Mo., one of the delegates to the Denver convention from the Ninth Missouri district, was stricken with an acute attack of indigestion shortly after luncheon Sunday.

Col. Clay, who is nearly 70 years old and one of the most widely known men in Audrain county, was assisted to his room in the Savoy hotel by Senator Stone and Samuel B. Cook. Dr. A. E. Platter, of Memphis, Mo., attended him.

Prof. W. M. Martin, a delegate from the Philippines, also cared for the stricken Missourian. Prof. Martin years ago taught school in Vernon county, Mo., and has since had experience as an army nurse, volunteered to aid the physician in caring for Col. Green, who was resting last evening.

POISONED BALL CLUB

Every Member of Peoria Team Endures Intense Suffering.

Peoria, Ill., July 6.—The entire Peoria team of the Three-Eye league were suffering from the severe pain of ptomaine poisoning during yesterday's game and each man was hardly able to leave his bed this morning.

Manager Donnelly stated that he thought poison had been put in the drinking water.

"Dick" Robn, of Sedalia, holds down the initial sack for the Peoria club, known as the "Distillers," from the fact that so many distillers are located there.

Rival Beat His Time.

A certain Sedalia druggist, well known by the gentler sex of the city, had a very disgusting experience last night, when, after arranging to spend the evening with his "fair one," he proceeded to her home and much to his dismay, found her absent. He lay in wait on the lawn, and, to his astonishment, it was near the midnight hour when she returned home, escorted by the druggist's rival. That accounts for the druggist's attitude today.

Say McBride Is Off.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific in this city repudiate the publication in the Warrensburg Star, that if an operator had been employed at Knob Noster the head-end collision west of Lamonte last Thursday morning might have been averted.

On the contrary, if no operator had been at work there the wreck would not have occurred. Ed Williams, conductor on train No. 3, who is himself a telegrapher, took the train order at Knob Noster, and did so efficiently, whereas, if no order had been taken at Knob Noster the collision would have been averted.

The Knobnoster Wreck Inquiry.

E. A. Gould, general superintendent of the Missouri Pacific, and A. J. Alexander, superintendent, heard further evidence here Sunday regarding the wreck near Knob Noster last Thursday morning, when eight were killed and about thirty injured. SURELY WELL DONE

CRIPPLE'S SPLENDID USE OF HIS ONE TALENT.

From Bed of Suffering Message of Light and Hope Went Forth to Cneer the Weak and Unfortunate.

By the time this article is printed the man whose story it relates may have gone to his reward. Already he has added a few more painful months to those that had gone before. That he can live another year, or even half that time, seems now all but impossible; and almost any morning may witness for him the daybreak of the life of which it is written that there shall be no more pain.

When the terrible accident was over, and they uncovered his mangled body, so little was left in it that they thought him dead. And when the surgeons had finished their work there remained but the physical wreck of a man.

Both legs were gone; the left arm was missing, and had taken with it the greater part of the collar bone. Of the right hand only a finger and the thumb remained. There was only enough left of the man that had been to suffer and remember.

But he still possessed a brilliant mind stored with the rich fruitage of a college training and enriched by travel in every part of the world! And it was all wasted, wasted, wasted! There was nothing he could do but to remain a helpless sufferer.

So he thought as he sat by the window in the Home for Incurables, and looked out on a world of which he had ceased to be a part. Before him lay his Bible and he read the parable of the talents, and reflected bitterly that he had now not one talent to bury; he himself was as good as buried, and his talents, which had been many, were buried already.

An old lady wheeled her chair beside his, and read a letter which had been sent her. It was from a stranger, but it did her good.

He was interested, and asked her about it, and learned that there was a kind of organization that furnished addresses of invalids and shut-in folks to persons who were willing to write them cheerful letters. She had sent her name as one who would be glad of an occasional letter, and this unknown correspondent wrote her regularly, and the letters comforted her.

A sudden thought came to him. To receive letters would be little comfort to him, but why should he not write them? But to whom? Could there be any persons so shut in as he who could be cheered by his letters? Possibly the men in prison were a trifle more to be pitied; yet even they had hope of release, and he had none. But it was worth trying.

So he wrote to the secretary of the organization for the names of some of the prisoners. He was informed that his letters could not be answered; the rules of the prison would not permit. But he undertook the one-sided correspondence.

Twice a week he wrote, and the letters taxed his strength to its limit. But into those letters he put his whole soul, all his experience, all his faith, all his bright wit, all his Christian optimism.

It is hard to continue writing when writing costs labor and pain, and especially hard when there is no reply. There were times when he grew discouraged, and was tempted to give it up. But it was his one remaining talent, and he resolved to use it as long as it lasted.

At length he got a letter. It was very short, and written on the stationery of the prison by the officer whose duty it was to read the letters of the convicts. All it said was this:

"Please write on as good paper as you can afford, for your letters are passed from cell to cell till they literally drop to pieces."—Youth's Companion.

Human Affection.

What is the best thing in life? I queried recently. I have raised the same question aforetime, and found the majority of responses leaned to "human affection." Surely there is nothing that comes to us by the grace of God so helpful as the "friend" who may be a husband, a wife, a sister or a brother, who knows the best of us and the worst of us, and who can love us still, ready to stand by us till the morning when our craft is grounded in the shallows or is helplessly stationary in maelstrom vortex, when we need all the strength our God can give, simply to live, my friend, simply to live. How rare friends are one soon realizes, and how priceless no words can duly say.—Home Chat.

JUST ABOUT CLOCKS

MRS. BILLOPS GIVES HER HUSBAND BY A LESSON.

Discoveries Previously Made Are Explained by Her to the Head of the Household, Who Is Duly Impressed.

"My goodness!" said Mr. Billtops, "I can't wind the clock!"

"What's the trouble, Ezra?" said Mrs. B.

"Why, the pointer is right over the keyhole," Mr. Billtops said. Mrs. Billtops looked up at Mr. B. and the clock he had set out to wind and a glance was sufficient.

"Of course it is," she said. "It's eight o'clock and the pointer is always over the keyhole at eight o'clock. Now, you will have to wait till the pointer gets past, then you can wind it."

And then Mr. Billtops, who, with all his years, is in many ways most unsophisticated, sat down to read the paper to wait for the hour hand of the clock to get past the eight o'clock keyhole so that he could wind it. But before beginning to read he laid the paper on his knee for a moment and, looking over at Mrs. B., said:

"Why, I never knew that before about the pointer and the keyhole."

"Well, Ezra," said Mrs. Billtops, who in the course of her multifarious household duties has set balky clocks going and oiled clocks with a broom splint, who knows more about clocks than Mr. Billtops would in a thousand years and who could beat him at mending anything seven times around the globe, "it's always been so, only I guess you never happened to notice it. And it's just the same at four o'clock, only you never noticed that, because you are not home to wind the clocks at that hour; and you generally wind them before eight, so you never noticed that."

"I don't pretend to be a clockmaker, Ezra," Mrs. Billtops continued, "but I guess it comes about something like this:

"In a clock that winds with a key you have to have two keyholes, one for the running part and one for the striking part; and now these keyholes might have been put in the upper part of the clock face—by the two on one side and the ten on the other—but I guess the original clockmakers didn't put them there because the old-time clocks were all big clocks, and that might have brought them up too high to be reached conveniently; so they put them down in the lower part of the face where they would be handy, where you now always find them—one on one side by the four and the other on the other side by the eight."

"And so, twice a day, when the hour hand is at four or at eight, it covers the keyhole there, and then you have to wait for it to get by before you can wind the clock. And then, of course, you know the minute hand goes round the clock face every hour, and so, though in its travels it doesn't stay there long, it covers each keyhole every hour. So you see, Ezra, there are really altogether a good many times in the course of a day when you can't wind a clock, though there is really nothing in this to be surprised over when you once realize it."

And at the end of this little discourse Mr. Billtops looked up at the clock that had surprised him, and seeing the hour hand now sufficiently clear of the keyhole so that he could get the key into it, he wound the clock to make sure that he would not forget that.

KATY "GLYER" DERAILED

two places, and he was internally injured.

The condition of Collins is critical. His body was not burned as Long's was, but scalding water ran into his eyes, and he will probably be blind for the remainder of his life, if he recovers from his other injuries.

Orrville Clayton, the fireman, jumped a few seconds before the engine toppled over and escaped with a few slight bruises. H. Goodwin, the American express messenger, who was in the baggage car behind the tender, was uninjured beyond a few cuts on the face.

While the work of clearing the tracks was going on, F. L. McNichols, chief clerk at the depot for the American Express company, while opening the safe in the express car, was injured, as the heavy door of the safe fell against his arm.

Speed Not Slackened.

As the train approached the Delaware avenue station, according to the fireman's story, it did not stop, but continued at a speed of eighteen or twenty miles an hour toward the curve.

Clayton, the fireman, says that he was shoveling in coal while the engineer was at his post on the right side of the cab and the pilot occupied the fireman's seat on the left side. He said that although it was his first run over the line in daylight he and the engineer had full confidence in the pilot, who had been advising them and that on account of this, he did not pay much attention to the speed. As he finished shoveling, the fireman says, he heard the pilot say, "That will do," and saw him signal for the brakes, and almost simultaneously saw the engineer apply the emergency brakes.

Not having noticed the black signal, the fireman was unaware of the danger, until looking ahead, he saw the long freight standing on a cross track but a few rods ahead, at the same time noticing a peculiar grating sound as the wheels took the derail and plowed along the ties.

He did not then realize that the train was derailed, as it was gradually slackening speed, then slowly began to topple to the right side. He immediately jumped to the left and cleared the engine.

Steam Injector Breaks.

Immediately there was a terrible crash, followed by the hissing of steam as the injector broke. Whether the engineer and pilot went over with the engine or jumped as the engine was falling is not known. They managed to get out of the wreckage before they were overcome by steam.

The combination express and baggage followed the engine, but the combination mail and smoker and the rest of the coaches did not leave the tracks.

At this point a side track nears the main tracks from the right and joins it in front of the tower just east of De Balvere avenue. As the train approached the tower a long freight train was standing on the side track, headed west, the last cars still behind on the main line.

Realizing this, the towerman, F. A. Phillips, of No. 4299 Evans avenue, who saw the passenger train approaching, set the block.

The system being interlocking, the derail also was set. This meant that if the train passed the signal derail ing was certain.

TO AID NEW WIRE COMPANY?

Installation of Automatic System at National Capitol Signal For Guesses as to Government's Plans.

In view of the positive denial by the Telepost company that it is seeking to sell out its rapid automatic telegraph system to the government, there is no little interest in the search for reasons for the installation of the Telepost apparatus in the rooms of the house committee on postoffices and post roads.

It was originally stated that the exhibit of this system in working operation, sending and receiving at the rate of 1,000 words a minute, was placed on view for the purpose of showing what could be accomplished by automatic telegraphy should it be determined to carry out government experiments looking to the establishment of a national telegraph system as a part of the postal service.

It is now suggested that the government may aid in the establishment of the Telepost system with a view to building up a better and cheaper telegraph service. While a government telegraph has some strong advocates in congress, the majority opinion is in favor of leaving the improvement of wire service to private enterprise.

Meanwhile the Telepost company is going ahead with the building of its lines and seems prepared to put its service in operation with a flat rate of twenty-five words for 25 cents without regard to distance, whether or not it receives aid from congress.

Cuba, Mo., July 6.—Seven boys were badly burned here Saturday by the explosion of a can of powder. They were firing a small cannon.

The cannon had been fired and up ended for reloading. Howard Tieman at once commenced to pour in powder from a can containing about five pounds of powder. A spark set the powder off, exploding the can and severely burning all of the seven boys. The injured are:

Howard Tieman, 18, burned in face, arms and breast; Barney Grubb, 10, son of Sheriff Grubb, face, eyes and body; Harry Mason, 10, and Joe Mason, 12, of Steelville, burned about legs and neck; Cecil Gains, face burned; Elmer Stumfa, 3, breast, stomach and arms burned; Charles Wilson, 18, hand cut.

The physicians attending the boys think they will recover.

"Time, the Great Healer."

A doctor who had treated a patient for a long time without giving relief finally wrote to him that he could do no more, and that tempus edax rerum was the only remedy. The patient immediately went to a drug store and applied for the remedy. The druggist gave him a bottle of some kind of mixture and charged him a large sum for it. After the patient had taken the compound for some time he met his doctor and thanked him for the wonderful prescription, which had cured him. The druggist's trick was discovered and the patient sued him for the money spent on the bogus medicine.

Trend of Civilization.

I had thought that civilization meant the attainment of peace and order and freedom, of good will between man and man, of the love of truth, and the hatred of injustice, and by consequence the attainment of the good life which these things breed, a life free from craven fear, but full of incident; that was what I thought it meant, not more stuffed chairs and more cushions, and more carpets and gas, and more dainty meat and drink—and therewithal more and sharper difference between class and class.—William Morris.

"Shopping Headache."

A prominent physician says that "shoppers' headache" is due to the fact that one has not eaten enough. He declares that no work is so nerve trying as shopping, and advises a good, substantial luncheon in the midst of the store hunt. Take an hour for rest and eat, thinking as little as possible of the tasks yet to be accomplished, and there will not be such a splitting head to take home.

Island's Abnormal Climate.

Of the abnormal climate of Kodiak Island, Alaska, a writer says: "In spite of its situation in such high latitudes we find here what may well be described as 'the parting of the ways' between the arctic and more temperate regions. For, thanks to the moderating influence of the Japanese current which flows along its southern coasts, Kodiak is favored with climatic conditions such as are unknown even in places a few miles north or east of it on the mainland of Alaska. So pronounced is the demarcation line that even on the island itself a traveler in summer will suddenly emerge from amid forests and vegetation of almost tropical luxuriance into a barren, desolate land of silence, where lofty snow-capped mountains tower aloft, brooding, as it were, over the past terrors of an arctic winter, which will soon descend once more, enveloping them in its icy grip."

WIFE RAN OFF WITH A NEGRO

Samuel Harrelson Is Granted a Divorce at Montgomery.

Montgomery, Mo., July 6.—Samuel Harrelson, whose wife ran off with a negro, has been granted a divorce and custody of the child. The husband was building a new house for his wife when she gave up all for the negro servant.

During the trial it was established that on the night of November 7, 1907, she left the home of the plaintiff in company with a negro hired man and went to Wellsville in a buggy; that she took the train at Wellsville, still in company with the negro, and was not seen again in that locality until on or about December 24, 1907.

When she made her appearance at Wellsville she hired a buggy from the livery stable and was driven to Middleton where she is supposed to have stopped for a time with relatives or friends. The defendant did not appear in person at the trial.

FORCING OR RETARDING.

Suggestions Offered by an Expert Poultryman Concerning Pullets.

James E. Rice, poultryman of the Cornell university experiment station, issued a bulletin relative to the possibilities of feeding early hatched pullets during the summer by retarded or forced feeding.

By retarding is meant the idea that feeding is necessary during the late summer to check the early tendency of laying, with the hope of getting a larger egg yield in the early winter.

By forced feeding is meant the giving of a rich stimulating mash to induce egg production.

Concerning the results of his work Mr. Rice has certain findings drawn from data which are submitted below:

1. Forced pullets made a better profit than retarded pullets.

2. Forced pullets ate less food per hen at less cost per hen than retarded pullets.

3. Forced pullets produced more eggs of a larger size, at less cost per dozen than retarded pullets.

4. Forced pullets produced more eggs during early winter than retarded pullets.

5. Forced pullets have better hatching results of eggs than retarded pullets.

6. Forced pullets made a better percentage of gain in weight than retarded pullets.

7. Forced pullets showed less broodiness than retarded pullets.

8. Forced pullets had less mortality than retarded pullets.

9. Forced pullets showed better vigor than retarded pullets.

10. Forced pullets showed the first mature molt earlier than retarded pullets.

11. Retarded pullets gave better fertility of eggs than forced pullets.

12. Hopper-fed dry mash gave better results in gain of weight, production of eggs, gain in weight of eggs, hatching power of eggs, days lost in molting, mortality, health and profit per hen, than wet mash.

13. Wet mash and grain fed pullets consumed slightly less food at less cost, and produced eggs at slightly less cost per dozen than dry mash and grain fed pullets.

14. Wet mash and grain fed pullets produced slightly larger eggs of slightly better fertility, and showed less broodiness than dry mash and grain fed pullets.

15. Dry mash and grain fed pullets laid eggs of good size at an earlier period than wet mash and grain fed pullets.

16. Hopper-fed pullets ate more than hand-fed pullets.

17. Pullets having whole grain ate more grit and shell than those having a proportion of ground grain.

18. Pullets fed on grain were more inclined to develop bad habits than those having a mash.

19. Earliest producers did not give as many eggs in early winter.

20. Early layers gained as rapidly in weight as those beginning later to lay.

21. Prolificacy made but slight difference in weight of hen and weight of eggs.

22. The most prolific pullets did not always lay earliest.

USED POISON OF RATTLESNAKE.

Preparation That Made War Arrows of Cherokee Indians Deadly.

An old Cherokee Indian recently gave away the secret how the Indians of olden times used to poison their arrows for war purposes or for killing bears, according to the Denver Field and Farm. They took a fresh deer liver, fastened it to a long pole, and then went to certain places where they knew they would find rattlesnakes in abundance. About midday the rattlers are all out of their dens, coiled up in the cooking sun. The bucks would poke the first rattler they found with the liver on the long pole. A rattler, unlike common snakes, always shows fight in preference to escaping. The snake would thus repeatedly strike at the liver with its fangs until its poison was all used up, whereupon it would quit striking and try slowly to move on. The bucks would then hunt up another rattler and repeat the performance, keeping up the work until the liver was well soaked with snake poison. Then the pole was carried home and fastened somewhere in an upward position until the liver became as dry as a bone. The liver was then pounded to a fine powder, and placed in their arrows. This powder would stick like glue to any moistened surface and was death to any creature which it entered on arrows.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. West left Sunday morning for a month's tour of the Pacific coast, and have ordered the Democrat-Sentinel mailed to them at Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. G. H. Sandfort is very ill at the home of her son, B. F. Sandfort, 823 West Sixth street, with dropsy. Her condition Sunday was serious, but today she appears to be better.

Miss Fay Brill, of Lincoln, Mo., is here today visiting her brother, H. F. Brill, the well known "supervisor" of the Stevenson Packing Co., on her way home, after visiting friends at Sweet Springs.

Herman S. Sailer, of the Jefferson City Republican, who came up Saturday to remain over Sunday, returned home last night, after having arranged for Andy Knipp to visit him at the state capital in the near future.

DRAPERIES, CARPETS AND RUGS—A. W. MCKENZIE, 114 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Mrs. Heard Gave a Luncheon.

Mrs. John T. Heard gave a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon at her home on West Broadway this afternoon in honor of those who took part in her recent last week. There were eight guests and the color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations.

500 WITNESS A TRAGEDY

JOE SCALES KILLED BY G. L. COX AT MALDEN, MO., SATURDAY NIGHT.

OCCURRED IN ELECTRIC THEATRE

Slayer, When Arrested, Was Standing Beside Body and in Act of Compelling Victim's Cousin to Hold Up His Hands.

Malden, Mo., July 6.—Joe Scales, of Malden, was shot through the head and instantly killed at an open air electric theatre Saturday night in the presence of 500 persons. Only two or three saw the shot fired, none of whom recognized the slayer.

G. L. Cox, 23 years old, was arrested by the constable, who says Cox was standing beside the body of Scales with a smoking pistol in his hand and in the act of compelling Scales' cousin, who was also armed, to hold up his hands.

Coroner Higdon held an inquest Sunday. The verdict was that Scales met his death at the hands of Cox.

The prisoner has employed C. M. Edwards and former Judge W. S. C. Walker to defend him, and by advice of his counsel he refuses to talk, but his friends say that he will be able to prove justification for the shooting.

Cox is the second son of D. R. Cox, who, with Dr. J. W. Beall, was shot and killed by a whisky joint operator several months ago.

GRADING AND PACKING FRUIT.

Carelessness Always Results in Lower Prices When Marketing.

To see the way in which some fruit reaches market, it is no wonder there are farmers who say fruit growing does not pay.

Very frequently baskets give evidence from their blackened, moldy appearance that they have been stored in damp cellars or they show chaff and dust of the hay loft. Such packages could not bring a good price for even the choicest of fruit. Second-hand packages or those that have been used for fruit before, are entirely unsuitable. Besides being unsightly, they will cause fruit to decay on the road to market. The wood of second-hand packages is liable to become impregnated with the spores of molds and rots from former fruit and will cause the speedy decay of fresh fruit coming in contact with it.

Very frequently packages are used which are unsuitable to the nature of the fruit. A bushel basket is a poor means for carrying and displaying delicate, high-class fruit like peaches. A barrel is too large for soft fruit like Bartlett and Clapp pears. Often a 20-pound basket of grapes will be begging for a purchaser, while if the same fruit were placed in dainty three-pound baskets, the fruit would sell like hot cakes at 25 and 30 cents apiece, or eight to ten cents per pound for the grapes.

The most common evidence of carelessness on the part of the fruit grower is the sending of ungraded packages, showing large, intermediate and small specimens of fruit which almost invariably sell at the rate paid for inferior stuff, says Farmers' Voice.

It would probably sell at a better price if every specimen in the package were small, the large specimens being a detriment rather than otherwise. It is a frequent sight in the commission houses of any of the large cities to see men sorting and repacking fruit carefully, which was carelessly put up by the farmer. The commission men pay the farmer a minimum price for the whole package, and that is the best that can be gotten for it.

The large, fine specimens are sorted out and packed in a smaller package and bring a special price, often much more than could be gotten for the whole original ungraded package. The profit for such grading which might have gone to the farmer, naturally went to the commission merchant who did the work.

The grower, moreover, paid the same freight on the inferior fruit in the package that he did on the special grade that brought the special price to the commission merchant.

Enjoying Annual Picnic.

The members of the Minstrels' Alliance, accompanied by their families, went to the Country Club grounds on the 2 o'clock car this afternoon to enjoy their annual picnic. There were possibly fifty people in the party.

The divines will pitch horse shoes, play croquet, etc., until 6 o'clock p. m., when they will dine on yellow-legged chicken, returning to the city between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Reath of John E. Thornton.

IN BATTLE OF LIFE

MATTER OF DIET IS MOST IMPORTANT FEATURE.

In Consequence the Asiatic, with His Diversified Feeding, Has Manifest Superiority Over the White Races of the Earth.

A conspicuous factor in the battle of life is omnivorousness, or diversity of feeding. That animal which has but a single plant, for instance, which it can use for food, may be annihilated by frost or grub or any other cause which would remove the plant for a single season, says a writer in the Pacific Era.

That which feeds indiscriminately on all plants will find abundant sustenance under more adverse circumstances. That whose stomach receives vegetable or animal food with equal favor has a still better chance for surviving; and that which can catch the most various sort of prey is more apt to have prey always at its command than that whose powers in chase, whose courage or whose strength can overtake or overcome only the most slow-moving or weakest animals. Man, the most perfect of animals, and the one who in the present conditions of the earth could survive all others, has attained to his position of mastery largely because he is, of all animals, the most omnivorous.

Of all the varieties of man the Asiatic, and especially the Chinaman, is most diverse in his food. All is meat to him—animal or vegetable, in the air, on the earth or in the waters under the earth. He can gorge himself with joy on the abundant meat diet of the Englishman; he can dine comfortably and happily upon a brace of mice, or eke out life for weeks upon a few handfuls of rice. And all the time he can work without ceasing. He can pack more of his kind upon an acre of ground than any New York tenement life can show, and live there in what he regards as tolerable comfort. In this he has precisely the same advantage over the white man as the European had over the original inhabitants of this country, and as the Englishman had over the natives of Australia.

It is really, therefore, those characteristics of the Asiatic which we most despise, and which we regard as constituting his inferiority to ourselves—his miserable little figure, his pinched and wretched way of living, his slavish and tireless industry, his indifference to high and costly pleasures which our habit of generations almost makes necessities, his capacity to live in swarms in wretched dens where the white man would rot if he did not succumb—all these make him a most formidable rival for ultimate survival of the fittest.

Our ancestors emerged from the broad and roomy environment of pastoral and savage life only a few centuries ago, and our life-sustaining faculties represent what has been stored up by heredity in the period which has since elapsed. The eastern Asiatic emerged from these conditions at a period so remote that no human record or tradition can be found so old as to refer to a time when China and India were not too populous for the conditions of savage life. The accumulated experience of countless ages is, therefore, stored up in the Asiatic's food-getting and food-saving capacity, and those ages properly and fairly represent his superiority over us in the battle for the survival of the fittest. If that battle is to be fought in a fair field with no favor, in open and undisturbed competition.

SHOOT NEGRO DIVEKEEPER

White Man Returns With Gun After Drunken Fight.

Neodesha, Kan., July 6.—In a shooting affray here son after midnight Saturday night, C. A. Smith, white, shot and probably killed W. B. Miller, a negro.

Smith is the husband of a woman who keeps a resort just outside the city limits, and Miller is the proprietor of a negro dive near the Frisco depot.

Smith was drinking and in a fight with Miller and other negroes at the depot was worsted.

Smith soon returned with a gun, and was met by Miller at the door of Miller's place, where a dozen shots were exchanged.

Smith was shot through the wrist. Smith surrendered to the officers and is in custody. Physicians say Miller can not live.

DOG THIEF STUCK IN PIPE

Stole Workmen's Dinners and Grew Too Fat to Get Out.

East Norwalk, Conn., July 6.—Two workmen employed on the East Norwalk electric plant pined paper bags containing their dinners in an empty sewer pipe Saturday morning, and at noon the diners were gone. Sunday, the same thing took place and the men investigated. Inside the pipe they found a terrier dog wedged fast. The dog had been there for two days, eating the dinners as fast as the bags were placed in the pipe. He had become so fat he could not be pulled out and the pipe had to be broken to free him.

Sent to Jail for 50 Days.

Takes Time.

It is true that the civilized world is gradually shedding its superstitions, but the process is slow. We have in this country the finest hospitals in the world, surgery and pathology are in a high state of development, but we have countless citizens, of more or less eminence, who carry potatoes in their pockets to cure rheumatism.

Russian Schools.

Our secondary schools are bad, the primary schools are not better, but it is to the superior school that we must look for the heart of putrefaction. It is the superior school which sets the bad example, which depraves youth, habituating it to idleness and inculcating revolutionary principles. Journal de St. Petersburg.

Real Tragedy.

Woman does not mind when there is a diversity of opinion concerning her looks. It is only when there is no opinion at all that life is a tragedy.

CARR JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Accused Murderer of Messenger Must Stand Trial Again.

Marion, Kan., July 6.—Late Saturday night the jury in the case of W. T. Carr, charged with the murder of Express Messenger Bailey, March 23, reported it was unable to agree, and was dismissed.

The jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. Carr will be tried again in October.

Would Be Interesting.

The doctor who declares that men are more beautiful than women is still insisting that this is not said in idle jest. At the same time it would be interesting to learn the identity of his lady acquaintances.

Superstition an Old One.

Covering the mirror when there is death in the family originated in the superstition that goblins, sprites, elves or other uncanny creatures would crowd to the glass to look on.

Last on the List.

Tommy—"Don't you believe it is fortunate to be the seventh son?" "Micky—" "Naw! I'm the seventh son." Tommy—"But the fortune tellers say the seventh son has all kinds of luck handed down to him." Micky—"Hub! All I have handed down to me is six brothers' old clothes."

Conscience a Guide.

Conscience is given to man for his own guidance in things moral and religious, and not as a measuring-stick by which he is to measure and pronounce judgment upon the moral, religious life of others.

Forget Self.

The secret of getting along with people is to think about them more than you think of yourself. When folks fail you take to books.

Needed Improvement.

This world would be a brighter world if the man who knows it all and the man who insists on telling us what we already know could be shut up together.

No New Discovery.

The greatest discovery of the century is one that man is not naturally vain like a peacock.

Deep Breathing.

A woman who has learned deep breathing almost always is a good sleeper, for nerves and mind are kept in healthy condition by the good chest expansion. Then, too, there is an absence of facial wrinkles and lines, and she is apt to keep her freshness long after the time that most women lose it.

Rolling Pin Method.

A Nebraska woman sewed her husband between two blankets and labored him with a rolling pin until he agreed to sign a temperance pledge. We rather suspect that is one variety of prohibition likely to actually prohibit.—Redlands Review.

The Other Half is Waiting.

One of the most pitiable sights in the world is that of people who are using only a small bit of their ability, while the rest of it is waiting to be used. It is still ineffective because of the many little weaknesses or peculiarities, the bad habits, or the lack of preparation, which handicap and make practically ineffective the whole life.—Success Magazine.

Baker's Dozen.

There used to be in various countries heavy penalties for short weight in bakers' goods, and the bakers, in order to avoid all risk of incurring the fine, used to give a surplus number of loaves, 13 for a dozen.—New York American.

W. M. JOHNS THE WINNER

HE WALKED OFF WITH THE GOLF HONORS AFTERNOON OF INDEPENDENCE DAY.

G. B. STOTTS WAS CLOSE SECOND

In the Ladies' Putting Contest, Mrs. C. E. Yeater and Miss Emma Longan Tied, Former Winner Winning in Playoff.

Saturday was indeed a "Glorious Fourth" with the members of the Country club. With very few exceptions the entire membership, including those of the families of members who are entitled to the privileges of the club, enjoyed the afternoon and evening on the links, the putting golf course or in various ways at the club house. The spirit that should go with our nation's birthday seemed to have taken entire possession for the afternoon and evening.

Probably the most enjoyable feature was the putting contest for the ladies. There were many entries, and after a close and exciting game, witnessed by a large gallery, Mrs. C. E. Yeater and Miss Emma Longan played a tie for the prize spoon presented by Mr. Charles H. Bard. In the play off of the tie, Mrs. Yeater was winner.

On the golf links proper the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, was devoted to the Independence day tournament. In this W. M. Johns was winner, 101-10-91; G. B. Stotts was second, 100-8-92.

Mr. C. E. Yeater, ordinarily a sterling golfer, not to be outdone in prize winning, won the consolation prize in this tournament. With the golf ball he thereby won he confidently asserts that he will bogey the new links.

Notes.

Mint Johns found the telephone in use when he rushed to secure a partner for a putting contest.

Hon. John T. Heard occasioned laughter when he suggested to his friend Andrews that they secure "cues" and do some putting.

Mr. Yeater was heard to remark that he would soon be a summer widower.

The players found the tees very much improved. This was due to the efforts of a man with hoe. The man was W. H. Reynolds; the hoe—just an ordinary hoe.

T. W. C.

G. A. Sturges played golf all day and danced the last dance. He demonstrated that a man can do one thing well—dance.

The golfers all missed Jim Montgomery. He could not be present.

Had Mrs. George Mackey and Mrs. E. M. Stafford witnessed the labors of their respective husbands on the putting course in their efforts to cut the grass, they would have had no fear as to the future of their home lawns.

Dr. J. S. Rogers, not satisfied with 18 holes, played in the contest, played the links the third time, and was as fresh as a daisy for the evening's pleasures. It has been suggested that the doctor be placed on the junior list.

William Mackey, Jr., playing his first game over the new links, and his first game since last August, handed in a 49 for nine holes.

The dance was a decided success. One of the pretty features commented upon was the dancing of mothers with their sons and fathers with their girls. And they were all enjoying themselves.

The tennis court is much in demand this year. Almost any evening will find some of the following of the younger men in a hot game: Joe Waddell, Charlie Brown, Pitt Stanley, George Ware, Al Cordes and John Antes. A number of the young ladies are also playing tennis. When the game is mixed doubles the announcement of the score as "love all" is much more emphatic than at other times. The club only awaits the organization of the tennis players, when a cup or other prize will be offered for a tournament.

Daily Thought.

Good nature is worth more than knowledge, more than money, to the persons who possess it, and certainly to everybody who dwells with them, in so far as mere happiness is concerned.—Henry Ward Beecher.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"The queerest stunt I know of," says the Philosopher of Folly, "is telling secrets. You expect somebody else to keep still about yourself."

Opportunity.

"It ain't allus fair to blame a man dat done let an opportunity pass," said Uncle Eben. "Graspin' an opportunity is very often like pickin' de genuine metal out'n a bunch o' gold bricks."
